EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE STATE BANK.

Now that the atmosphere has cleared and we have a police force, but one cloud remains, and that is the fact that the State Bank and Trust Company's various branch institutions throughout Nevada remain with closed doors.

Either that institution has the money with which to continue or it has not. It should either go to the wall or open up and there ought to be no further delay. The State Bank and Trust Company is not in Reno, we are aware, but it is in the State and that gives us reason for expressing the opinion that either Mr. Rickey should himself take steps towards reopening the bank, or he should get out and make way for some one who knows how.

We recall the announcement that was made a month ago and more that he would give his private fortune toward rehabilitating the bank. We should like that to be done. But if not done, we shall feel, with other newspapers which printed that declaration, that we have been led into deceiving our readers. We have always been willing to aid in doing what seemed to be for the best interests of Nevada, but we think that those interests no longer lie in allowing the State Bank to conceal its condition from the public.

We have laws that should be enforced and a bank that, in the face of the general restoration of prosperity, is unable to make good, should receive the immediate attention of the proper officials. The only way to avoid this will be to resume banking.

We say this through no desire to heap further difficulties upon Mr. Rickey's institution, but simply because his continued inaction is affecting the standing of other banks and of the entire State.—State Journal.

WORKINGMEN STAY AWAY.

Workingmen who contemplate going to Rawhide for the purpose of securing employment, are warned to keep away from there. There is at the present time more men in the camp than can handle three times the amount of work that is being offered in all kinds of employment. There is no money in the camp. There will be money there in time. When that time comes, the Daily Bonanza will be the first agency through which it will be announced. The Bonanza believes in the future of Rawhide, but with a new camp there is always an era of stagnation after the first rush, and this era, as regards money, is now on at Rawhide.

NO LIMIT TO NEEDED MONEY.

Mr. John Barrett tells what is being done and what is needed in Latin America. Mexico has already received from the United States $700,000,000, and there is room for ten times that amount in the next ten years in each of the South American states. It is said that Europe is preparing to invest two thousand millions in South America in the course of the next ten years. American investments amount to $150,000,000 in Cuba, while $50,000,000 more have been invested in adjacent islands and Central America, and those investments are but a tithe of what is needed. An English banker says $25,000,000 could be profitably invested in Colombia. Rio Janeiro spent more last year for public improvements than any city in the United States except New York, and the country is spending more for river and harbor improvements than our own country is. America could safely invest $100,000,000 in Brazil, Brazil, Paraguay, Bolivia and Peru are filled with riches as yet undeveloped. Uruguay is spending $10,000,000 to make her harbor at Montevideo one of the finest in all the world. Argentina has 6,000,000 people only, but last year her commerce exceeded that of Japan with 40,000,000 people and China with 400,000,000.

About the richest, strongest and healthiest country of all is Chile; her lands are magnificent and cheap, her mines very rich. She occupies the lower west coast state of South America, about as do California, Oregon and Washington the northwest coast, and is just about the area of all those three States.

We are not doing our part in the regeneration and redemption of South America.—Salt Lake Telegram.

Eighteen months ago Manhattan was given up for dead, but today the investor comes to the realization that it is a camp with mines, and destined to make a producer. It has simply been in the shadow of its unprecedented boom, the inflation and bursting of which did not in the least affect the real merits of the camp. A mining district must have time. To be forgotten by the public has furnished Manhattan with an opportunity to make good, and that public may yet learn to know that it turned away from something good.—Fairview News.

Those voting against the police bill in the Assembly were: R. E. Skaggs of Elko; Mr. Hamilton of Esmeralda; Mr. O'Brien of Lander; Mr. Vaughan of Lincoln; and Messrs. Corbett, Lamberton and Tannahill, all of Storey county. Two members, Davey and Stewart, were absent, so this resulted in 31 votes for the measure, a number far greater than the constitutional majority required.

Secretary's Report.

As the work of 1906 was to establish for the library a regular monthly income, the work of 1907 was to place the library on a thoroughly systematic running basis. To that end the cataloging of the books was undertaken, to conform with the general system of library conduct used throughout the United States. Using the American Library Association catalog of 800 volumes for a popular library, which the board was advised by other libraries was to be the best guide obtainable, new books were selected to the amount of 200; $65.000 was expended in subscription to the leading magazines, as the board felt the necessity of making the reading room department as satisfactory and complete as possible. A reserve fund of $250.00 was established, this money to rest in bank against future emergency. With the closing of the banks, our regular income was wiped out of existence, and the work of 1908 will be to again establish a monthly income upon which the board may rely, and the continuance of the management under the system begun the year previous.

It is extremely gratifying to the board and those subscribing to the library maintenance, to watch the membership steadily increasing, and to find by actual count that the average attendance at the library is 800 people per month.

It is the purpose of the board to bring the people of Tonopah into touch with the very best literature written, as well as to afford the children and young people in general wholesome entertainment at no expense.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. HUGH H. BROWN,
Secretary.
